London, Aug 20—The second setting of the Russo-Pelish peace conference at Alinsk took place Thursday and a summary of Russia's terms was communicated to the Poles. They were substantially the same as those was communicated to the Poles. They were substantially the same as those the Russian delegation published in London, says a Moscow official statement dated Thursday and received in London this morning.

Stated orders for the conference were agreed upon. Toward the end of the session the Russian delegates protested against the Poles' efforts to drag the negotiations, the statement says.

Third—All arms, excluding those needed for the army forces specified, to be handed to soviet Russia and the Ukraine.
Fourth—All war industries to be demobilized.
Fitth—No troops or war material to be allowed to come from abroad.

Sixth—The line of Wolkovisk, Bialystok and Prawevo to be placed fully at the disposal of Russia for commercial transit to and from the Baltic.
Seventh—Land to be given free to the families of all Polish citizens killed, wounded or incapacitated in the war.

rice to the lamines of all Polish citizens killed, wounded or incapacitated in the war. In return Russian offered to withdraw the Russian and Ukrainian troops from the Polish front simultaneously with the Polish demobilization and to reduce considerably on the termination of these operations the number of Russian troops on the Russian frontier line, these forces to be fixed at a figure to be agreed on. The final frontier of the independent state of Poland under the Russian offer would, in the main, be identical with the line indicated in the note of Earl Curzon, the British foreign minister, of July 20. Russia stipulated, however, that additional territory should be given Poland on the east in the regions of Bialystok and Cholm.

United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. Congress shall have power to conforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The attorney general of Wisconsin has construed this amendment as broad enough to strike out of the Wisconsin constitution and statutes any clause restricting the right to vote on any federal or state question on account of sex. Under the federal amendment and the attorney general's ruling, women over the age of twenty-one (21) years who have been in the state a year and in the precinct ten (10) days are entitled to vote on any question.

Women also have the right to serve on election boards if appointed.

The Council expects to take up on next Monday night the establishment of further precincts in the City of Janesville, and it would be well for all voters, including the women voters, to keep themselves posted as to which precinct they reside in.

WETS ARE SAD Conjecture Concerning Vote on League of Nations-Beer Party Out of

Washington, D. C., August 20.—Ratification of the inhoteenth amendment to the rederal constitution permitting women in all states of the union to vote has unquestionably upset the calculations of the republican and demogratic managers of the presidential campaign. It may mean an entire change of factics, Certainly it already has brought worries that didn't exist last week. One of these is the certain punishment of republican and demogratic members of congress who showed themselves unfavorable to suffrage. The other is the vote of the women on the tangible or intangible liquor issues and the various phases of the league of nations controversy.

members of congress themselves universible to suffrage themselves universible to suffrage themselves universible or intangible liquor on the tangible or intangible liquor issues and the various phases of the league of nations controversy.

Opposed to Women Yoting.

Now that the fight is over, it is not prejudicial to say that inside both the republican and democratic camps, there were influential men who secretly hoped that the measure would not triumph. The women leaders used to call these persons reactionary and ultra conservative and, however, that may be it is a tact that most of these same individuals were plainly stumped by the prospect of organization politicians and were plainly stumped by the prospect of organization politicians and vectom.

Nothing worries a political leader so much as inability to vote his consistential in grouns or at least to assess definitely the trend of one district so he can counterbadance losses in another. But the women have always proved themselves inaccessible, ways proved themselves inaccessible, they are hard to organize in the political sense and insist upon a certain independence which defices party tradition and partisanship. While many a man has been a life-long republican or democrat and nestiates to change his allegiance there has been built up no such fealty on the part of the women. They are inclined therefore to judge the candidates and the parties on their merits.

Punish Senators.

And while it is perhaps a triffe expending the it is perhaps a triffe expending the property of the chamber, will come from Madison, where he is attending the various of the Chamber of Commerce and the parties on their merits.

Punish Senators.

And while it is perhaps a triffe expending the party of the chamber of the party of the women. They are inclined therefore to judge the candidates and the parties on their merits.

Tunish Senators.

And while it is perhaps a trife extreme to use the term "punishment" as applied to the Intention of the women voters with respect to cortain United States senators who have done all in their power to block suffrage, the women leaders believe the activity of these men was a true test of their progressive or reactionary character and that the ones who opposed suffrage were with rare exceptions similarly flued up against other legislation of a social or humanitariun character. They will therefore use a man's suffrage record as an index of his value to the community and fight him regardless of party. Punish Senators.

There is already a good deal of talk about the giving of credit for the winning of Tennessee. It is a superficial factor and the women leaders do not attach much importance to that kind of thing. They don't believe the women will vote as a matter of gratitude but as a matter of production.

der of gratitude but as a matter of principle.

No Particular Credit.

Although Tennesse is a democratle state and the democrats are naturally jubilant that a southern state did the trick, the women leaders know full well that they never could have gotten suffrage as far as Tennessee's crucial vote without the constant support of progressive republicans both in the congress and in state legislatures. They will tell you that Governor Cox showed himself more sympathetic than Senator Harding. They will even show you how democratic members in the Tennessee legislature were influenced by Governor Cox or his personal repre-

Harding and Cox.

But shrewd political managers aren't so sure Senator Harding didn't play his cards exceptionally well inview of the fact that women who opposed suffrage will probably use the ballet to upheld their doctrines and principles just as much as those who favored suffrage. In other words, senator Harding has gone after the votes of both factions in the suffrage ranks and hopes for support from both while Governor Cox has lined himself up very definitely against the anti-suffrage vote. It must be remembered, too, that in many states the anti-suffrage votes are not altogether feminine and that in the state of Ohio for instance, the male vote has been almost even divided on the question of petmitting women to vote on state questions.

KILED

Harro Found Guilty

During the month of June, millions of Led Lucs, Water Bugs, Ants, Moths and Roaches have been killed by HARRO, The National Bug Killer.

HARRO not only kills the bugs, but it positively coats their eggs, thus preventing them from hatching. If you have tried to rid your home of these PESTS and could not do so, then there is but one thing left for you to do and that is to use HARRO. HARRO is used in the best Hotels and Public Places as a preventative against all Bugs and Insects. HARRO is recommended and sold everywhere. Your Druggist has it. We will mail you a package of HAR-RO upon receipt of 50 cents.

in his garage last Saturday night, was planned in Chicago, according to information furnished Sheriff Joseph Meyer today.

A Chicago man, whose name is being withheld, told the sheriff he heard a conversation between two men in the rear room of a West Madison street saloon in Chicago last Saturday which indicated that one of them was preparing to come to Kenosha to kill a man. The sheriff was given a description of the two men and Chicago police were notified.

men and Chicago police were not field.

W. W. Gillman, special attorney general, who was sent home, by the governor to take charge of the investigation following complaint that the police and coroner were not disposed to go into the case, joined Sheriff Meyer in the search today.

Last night the sheriff raided Pacini's apartment and, despite protests from a policeman on guard, took charge of the murdered man's property, including several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds.

No inquest has been held.

New York. Aug. 20.—The stock market became more active within the first hour of the morning reached larger proportions than on any previous day of the week. The demand included a number of stocks that suffered severe impairment in the general decline of recent days, particularly oils, sugar and motor accessories. Houston Oil gained almost 10 points, South Porto Rico 5 and Kelley Springfield 4. Bethichem and Lackawanna were added to the strenger steels and gains of 1 to 1½ points attended the buying of rails under lead of Canadian Pacific and Reading, Call money opened at 7 per cent. Perceptible improvement was shown by British, French and German exchange. Substantial advances were made by a number of prominent issues at the fairly active opening of today's stock market. Shorts again covered quite extensively on favorable overnight advices from abroad. Oil motor, steel, equipments and food shares gaited 1 to 3 points. Conspicuous features embraced Mexican and Pan American Petroleums. Crueible, Replogle, Vanadium and Gulf States steel, suvernadium and Gulf States steels, New York, Airbrake, American Beat Sugar, and American Writing Paper preferred. Rails wire a negligible factor, although stead, and shippings were irregular.

Mexican oils, Crueible Steel, Atlantic Gulf and some of the active coalers increased their gains later, the balance of the list casing on selling for profits. The close was firm.

A_n EV-RE-DAY Recipe

Cut the chicken in pieces and piut in an iron spider. Add 2 tablespoons Ev-Re-Dny Margarine. 2 of lard, salt and pepper, and hot water enough to cover. Let cook slowly until tender and the water is all cooked away. Then brown gently, adding more lard and Ev-Re-Dny Margarine if necessary. This method prevents the dryness so common to fried chicken.

NEW TRAIN SCHEDULES.

The committee appointed at the conference of the chambers of commerce of the cities and towns of this neighborhood, have made a report and if the railroads accept, it will mean better service to and from Milwaukee and aid a great territory from Mineral Point to the lakes.

Get behind the roads and help. We need the service, and action supporting the demand of the committee should be taken by all civic bodies.

KEEP THE 2 CENT FARE!

A fight is to be made in the courts to have the rule of the state raliroad commission against higher passenger fares than those fixed by the statute, set aside.

It is to be hoped that every energy of the commission will be bent on having the rate preserved. The railroad is still the way of the masses. The day coach carries the greater crowd. Higher rates will end with the operation of the Esch-Cummins law on September 1. Then the state rate goes into effect and the government war rate ceases. The state has refused to cut the 2 cent fare. Behind the commission the people should stand as a body—a solld voting body.

The burden of rall rehabilitation, the necessary legacy of government operation has fallen on freight; let it stay there!

MEETING UNITY WITH DIVISION.

The whole state of Wisconsin is waking up to the menace of the possibility of establishing the nonpartisan league in Wisconsin through the unitelements under the banner of Blaine. In putting into operation the socialistic schemes of the league in North Dakota, the farmers of that state have seen their taxes go up with mighty leaps.

There is no way to dodge these figures for they are in the records of North Dakota.

North Dakota has 30,000,000 acres of the taxation of the state. In 1917 they paid 50 per cent. The taxes this year are $7,000,000 as against $2,000,000 in 1017. These raises are for the purposes of socializing the banks, mills, elevators, stores, buying newspapers, and operating all kinds of businesses.

Over $20,000,000 were appropriated for these purposes. The difference is represented in bond issues and borrowed money.

The 30,000 nonpartisan leaguers of the state of profit through jobs in such a new socialistic state. The contribution of $540,000 in dues, to the socialistic program provides an ample fund for the leaders want more money and they have succeeded in getting it by taxation in North Dakota. Will they be permitted to repeat it in Wisconsin?

Leading the fight against nonpartisan "ism" is when he polled 75,000 ballots. Then there is grees it takes six weeks. when he polled 75,000 outloss. Then there is merely a black spot. Then the head of the fish appears attached to a tiny sack or belly. The fish and Hull also opposed to the leaguers. Seaman lives on this for eight or nine days, at the end of came late, the candidate of the governor to defeat Wilcox. Every vote for Seaman is a vote to aid Biaine and the Townley program of confiscation and higher taxes.

The leading papers of the state are seeing this. Thursday the Marinette Eagle-Star, for years a staunch stalwart supporter, came into the open with a stirring call to the voters to units on Wilcox. They cannot see the Philipp candidate. Other newspapers are joining, refusing to follow McGovern or Philipp, in the clarlon call to duty and to save the state from the orgle of high taxation and socialistic confiscation of the industries of the state.

The opposition to the league is divided. It should be united on one candidate. Perhaps before the day of the primaries arrives it will be. The women will have something to say, too, on this matter. They will vote in the primary. It may be that Mr. Blaine will meet his Waterico when the women register their votes against nonpartisan socialism of the state.

FRENCH IN POLAND.

Revolution in the fortunes of Poland seems to have come with the arrival on the field of the French General Weygand with 500 officers, who have taken command of the defense of Warsaw. Under the direction of these officers and with munitions and guns which were successful in holding off the Germans at Verdun and other points in the world war, the horde of Bolshevists have fied in rout and to the loss of an enormous number of prisoners. It may be that more Russians will be sacrificed and that the battle for Warsaw may be again fought, but it will be a more wary foe when the attack is made.

The French entrance into the war puts a new phase on the situation in Europe. With the recognition of Gen. Wrangle and his effort to wards in Janesville is emphasized. The Land of the Trout

By FREDERIC J. MASKIN Denver, Colo., August 18.—Colorado is now re-rered by sportsmen everywhere as being the greatest trout-fishing area in the country. Thousands of people come here every summer for the sole purpose of pursuing the elusive but abundant trot, making Denver the base of their attack. The native Denvenites are no less enthustastic concerning the unsurpassable quality of the nearby trout streams, so that Denver has come to possess a very trouty atmosphere. Mountain trout is the headliner on every hotel menu, unless it is temporarily ousted in favor of lake trout; discussions of its habits, affectations, and idiosynthesis of the property of the local programments. cracies fill costly columns in the local newspapers, and it is constantly cropping up in the advertising copy of such unrelated articles as kodaks, motorcycles and women's wear.

There are the dozens of shops scattered all over the city which sell nothing but fishing tackle and the city which seit nothing out hairing tackie that fishing apparel. Even the most casual tourist soon becomes infected with the spirit of conquest, and begins to wish that he could have a hand in catching the infinite number of mountain trout that he consumes. At least one Denver cafe has recognized this vague longing on the part of the nonfishing public and has capitalized it in a unique way. Connected with its dining room is a large tank containing numerous live trout. The patron ordering mountain trout for his dinner is led to this aquarium, permitted to select his own fish, and then to stand nearby while a waiter deft hish, and then to stand hearby White a which a hot frying pan is already waiting. This novel plan not only assures the dining public of fresh fish, but also affords it a pleasant thrill.

No one knows how many trout are removed No one knows now intary that are three from the trout streams of Colorado every year. So far as can be ascertained, no statistician has yet come along and estimated how many freight cars it would take to haul them to the eastern coast, or how many miles of fish trail they would make if strewn an eighth of an inch apart across the continent. The only way in which the fish and ame authorities can estimate is by the numbe of fishermen who frequent the streams. About 350,000 tourists have had designs on the Colorado trout this year, while the natives daily diminish the stock by several thousand. On the day that the season opened this year, 1,500 fishermen were tackling Bear Creek alone, and the remoter streams, according to reports of the Forest Service, were equally crowded.

At this rate there would be only a few seasoned and wary trout left at the end of a year if the state of Colorado were not so vigilant in replenishing the streams with new fish. But fortunately the state has a fish and game commissioner who is But fortunately himself a sportsman and therefore personally as well as officially interested in seeing that Colorado maintains its pinnacle of trout fame. Under the supervision of this commissioner, Mr. R. G. Particular variances and the supervision of this commissioner, are articles. vin, twenty million sturdy voing trout are arti-propagated and poured into the trout streams,

In this twenty million are included three species of fish—namely, the Rainbow Trout, the Native or "Black-Spotted Trout," and the Eastern Brook or "Red Speckled" Trout. The last variety has been propagated with such amazing success nonpartisan league in Wisconsin through the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce ing of that small organization with all the radical in Colorado that the eastern states from whonce in the colorado that the eastern states from the color plies of brook trout eggs with which to replenish their streams. In fact, Colorado is now as famous for its successful system of artificial propagation as it is for its frout.

The state controls seven different lakes containing large quantities of trout, from which millions of eggs are obtained, and it operates 21 hatcherics. On the day that we interviewed Commis-North Dakota has 30,000,000 areas of the day that we find the form a trip to land. In 1017 it was assessed at a valuation of science Parvin, he had just returned from a trip to $203,000,000. This year the assessment is over $1,000,000 and the farm lands pay 70 per cent of the taxation of the state. In 1917 they paid 50 the taxation of the state. In 1917 they paid 50 various photographs of the lakes and hatcheries the taxation of the state. from his desk, he explained the method by which artificial propagation is carried, on.

It seems that the three species of fish have different seasons for spawning. The rainbow spawns first, early in the spring; the natives, or "black-spotted" trout follow a little later on, and the brook trout spawn in the fall. When this season occurs the fish start to run—that is, they make a concentrated effort to leave the lakes and go up into the streams, each female accompanied by a male. The process of natural spawning takes four Wisconsin in an effort to dictate the policy of the 400,000 voters are being led by the men who profit through jobs in such a new socialistic state. mitting one male to each three females. ripe the eggs are squeezed from the female fish and the milk from the milk from the milk is spread of the propaganda of the society. The poured over the eggs so as to fertilize them, after which they are put in a cool place to harden. Then they are washed and packed in cheese cloth and wet moss.

In this impregnable form the eggs arrive at the Senator Wilcox. Leading the former La Follette with Townley, is Lt. Gov. Dithmar. He is making by brave fight to hold the vote of two years ago a brave fight to hold the vote of two years ago weeks, whereas if the temperature is only 38 dewhich time it develops into what is known as "fry." Having reached this stage, it is still kept in the trough for a certain period and fed ground iver, which Mr. Parvin says is the best fish food ever discovered. Under Mr. Parvin the small "fry" are removed to nursery ponds or relaining ponds and allowed to stay there for from 8 to 16 months until they to stay there for from a war fingerlings." As "fingerlings" they are large enough and strong enough to take care of themselves and rhrely succumb to the rigors of their new environment when placed in the mountain streams.

Since this plan has been adopted, the fish commission estimates that it loses only about 10 per cent of the artificially reared fish to any other cause than that of sport. Even here, the fish are protected as much as possible. Fishermen are forbidden to catch fish less than seven inches in length, or more than fifteen pounds of fish in one day, or to have more than twenty pounds of fish day, or to have indecting the first them.

In their possession at any one time.

With its trout hatcheries producing such gratifying results, the fish commission has recently become interested in introducing the castern perch and black bass into the waters of Colorado. Inand black bass the bass is a distinctly monogomous fish, which does not run in hordes, but pairs separately under a rock, it is almost impossible to propagate it artificially in hatcheries. The com-mission has had to be satisfied with planting it in various lakes and allowing it to do its own repro ducing.

solld backing of the nonpartisan league. So far Rosa is a lap ahead, but Cooper has only blown the foam off the beer.

The highway commissioner is working on the Edgerton road. That is more important than the saving of Warsaw.

With the increased vote in the city owing to the suffrage amendment, the need of additional greater representation on the county board.

The United States is short 5,000,000 houses. So would help right now in Janesville.

The state fair is still advertising Aviator Locklear as an attraction. We had a notion the fair was to be held in Milwaukee.

We do not hear much from Governor Philipp against this radicalism which is threatening Wisconsim. He is more interested in defeating the man who is trying to save Wisconsin from it. He wants, too, to continue his power in state affairs, so he has at a late hour brought into the contest another candidate in the person of Dr. Seaman, an eminently worthy gentleman, but an entirely superfluous ingredient in this campaign. If Wilcox loses the nomination it will be because of the Seaman candidacy, for, Seaman himself will not be nominated. In that event Gov. Philipp will be avenged and Wisconsin can make the best of it.—Appleton Post-Crescent.

Green Bay, Aug. 20.—It will be weeks yet before a game of football is played in Green Bay, but the packers, intent on the state championship this year, are already at work. The first practice session was held Wednesday night under the direction of Manager Neil Murphy. It is expected that Jack Dalton will be engaged as coach.

The first game for the Packers will be played along about the middle of September.

Experts are of the opinion that the pitching staffs of the American league clubs are superior to those of the National and declare that this condition will have a large effect on giving the world's series pennant to an American league club this year.

SOL LEYFAN

Madison, Wis.—Sol Levilan, Madison banker and merchant and candidate for state treasurer, appealed to members of the Wisconsin Retail Shoe Dealer's association, in convention here to use more newspaper advertising.
"The shoe dealer has three real friends," said Mr. Levitan, "The banker, the traveling salesman and the newspapers. The banker finances the business, the salesman brings you the goods and the newspaper sells it for you."

Mr. Levitan declared that newspaper advertising is the best investment any dealer can make. Tell the truth in your ads, have quality goods that will back up your claims and your success is assured," declared the banker. "No retailer can be successful in business without taking in as a silent partner the newspaper of his city. While the merchant is talking to one man, the newspaper is talking to thousands.

THE STREET STREET STREET STREET The Blue Moon

A TALE OF THE FLATWOODS

By DAVID ANDERSON Experimental and the contract of the contract

It was perhaps half an hour later when, in the leisurely manner of men returning from a season of successful sport, the two fishermen, with the pick of all they had floated over in the bottom of the boat, rowed up the stream. The glare of the campfire was, beginning to slither upon the dripping our blades and the ripples they raised when the Boss laid the boat nearer the south shore with the boat nearer the south shore with the remark:
"Here's where we're expecting

th'ist th' shiners tomorrow—all along rere. Jist look at th' tracks. Make a right smart track, don't they, fer a beast without no feet?"
The Pearlhunter made no answer. Crouched down by the jack light well toward the bow of the boat, he had been for some time watching the unusually thick tangle of winding marks upon the slimy bottom, plowed there by the mussels or clams while feeding dozens and hundreds of the croeping bivalves, half buried in the occe, at that very moment dotting the river bed.

The Boss was in the very act of turn' g the boat across the river to the camp when he was startled by an excited exclamation from his companion, who had suddenly bent low and dangerously far out over the water. He was up on the instant and had fashed the jack light around the boat. In his dripping hand there was an immense river mussel.

The old Boss had no sooner caught gods, a Blue Moon!"

He snatched it from the hand of his companion and held it under the full glare of the jack light. Next moment he had handed it back and was driving the boat to shore, where the first glance at the peculiar markings of the mussel threw the whole camp into the wildest excitement.

They spread down by the light of the first plance at the number of the first the whitest cloth the camp afforded, and the Boss cut the mussel open. One pear! large, lustrous, dropped out upon the cloth and lay twinkling up into their faces like a fallen star. It passed from hand to hand, the pearl fishers struggling with each other for the privilege of holding it.

"I never see'd a one b'fore," cried the oldest clammer present, "but I knowed hit were a Blue Moon th' minute I lamped th' shell."

"Well, I'll be damn'd!" he chuckled good-naturedly to himself, still studying the other from under the edges of his eyes. "Say," he continued, looking up frankly, "I hain't got a dern bit more claim to it than I got to the Bank of Ingland. A PRAYER FOR PARDON.

Here is an incident without a pardiel in human history. A monarch from his throne, with no compulsion save that of conscience, publically confesses his guilt, expresses his penitence in unequivocal terms and erics to Cod for mercy. forgiveness and purification. Not content with that he writes it all with an iron pen in the rock forever. Unconsciously in so doing he creates an all-single somewhat despised, a sermon. And it is all the pomp and circumstance of recommendation of the pomp and circumstance of recommendation of the most adroit packed as a fash-light the exceeding turpitude of his son, he has provided the king with his conscience, and has then left the king with his converted work out his forfended Goth fear and trembling, the binder of the cane. * The king bends himself determinedly to his painful and humiliating task. The direct and unequivocal terms he uses challenge admiration. His sole plea is God's mercy, not his own merit. There is no hint of great and Joyal service to God in the past, no suggestion of present high station which should have consideration. Without hesitation the king exchanges the purple for sackcloth, the crown for ashes, his own royal throne for God's footstool of mercy. Not content with the merce reasure of the record, he cries for a moral cleansing so thorough as to leave no shred ar germ of filth. Hories, "Blott" "Wash!" "Cleanse! David sees God on the judge's bench, himself at the criminal's bar. He anticipates the first step in the proceedings of the court by his confession. Before the judge can open his ilps he shows in anticipation his indicated in his sin against the woman has been and produced in his sin against the woman has been and his of the proceedings of the court by his confession. The Teacher's Lantern.
David stood as a representative of religion in his age and to his nation.
He represented God himself. When he sinned he misrepresented God.
Nothing can justify God, restore him to the right and proper view of the He represented God Nothing can justify God, restore him to the right and proper view of the world, save David's confession that he had thus misprepresented God. So the disciples of Christ today are his wilnesses. Misconduct on their part is misrepresentation of Christ. Yet he has no other way of conveying his truth to the world save through his disciples, who are city on hill, lamp on lamp-stand, salt of earth, living epistles, read of all. * David has been used to take the personal pronoun of possession in his address to Deity, saying "My God." He is not so sure of his relation now and so modestly drops the pronoun, saying only "O God." * A college boy hitherto exemplary in conduct was called on the carpet for misdemeanor. In the ante-room he overheard the remark, "Why did he do that and his father a minister?" "Must be something wrong with his father!" Tho hoy had never looked at it that way. He could not endure the imputation against his father, Without waiting to be called he burst into the room, crying, "My father isn't in this! He is good and right! I only am to blame. I'll take the punishment, but don't mention my father." That is the way David felt when he cried, "I have sinned. Thou are justified and clear!" * The inveterate, staying qualities of sin are well symbolized in the practically ineradicable scarlet dye. Fabrics of that color are put by themselves and red-blotting paper is made of them. The miracle of divine grace is worked when scarlet sin is transformed into white fleece. * The old saying is that "What God does is well done." When he undertakes to forgive sin he casts it he hind his back, he sinks it in the fathomless sea. Forgiven sin should never he allowed to accumulate upon the heart. One should pray for daily bread. * To a chaplain bending over a young man dying on the field of battle, the soldier said culmly and joyously, "There's not a cloud between me and God!" * Sin is, ctymologically "missing the mark." The purpose of life stands before one like the target before the archer. It is Motto: To praise others is common justice, for justice is a constant and perpetual will to render to every one that which is his own.

Receiving Praise and Giving It.
St. Paul had a genius for encouraging. He was not content with getting people converted. He stayed with them. If not in person then by means of his letters which were almost avaluable as his presence, he followed them with wise counsel. He did not evade the duty of correction. He told some to look out or he would come after them with a rod. But his words of cheer outnumber his words of cheer outnumber his words of the rotal the rotal that he could never forget their love, work and hope. Praise has its place. It has its function which is very important. It should be dealt out wisely but never penuriously.

"Any candidate for the high office of United States senator who seeks votes under talse pretenses can't be trusted. Such a man isn't fit to occupy public office."

Senator Lenroot discussed provisions of the Esch-Cummins act to show that it is the most progressive law of its kind ever passed, and that instead of guaranteeing a 8 per centreturn it puts an end to stock watering and provides that the railroads shall turn over to the government all they make over 6 per cent. also that there is no guarantee of any kind in the law after Sept. 1.

He charged that his opponent from La'Crosse either had not read the Esch-Cummins law and did not know what it provided, or that he had read it and was deliberately misrepresenting it to the people.

Senator Lenroot denounced the Plumb plan as a class and special privilege measure which railroad men by the thousands are not supporting because they know it is vicious.

"I have been fighting special privilege by organized wealth for twenty years but I am not atraid to fight special privilege in any form no matter how many votes may be back of it," he said. "If I can't win this fight without selling my soul and my conscience to a class of men who ask special privilege I want to be licked."
